A line of students stretches from the school gym through the schoolyard at Chris Hadfield Public School, creating a chain of caring to deliver food donations to the Helping Hand Food Bank in Bradford on Oct. 14.

Chain of Caring at Chris Hadfield Public School

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

When the new Chris Hadfield Public School was established three years ago, classes were held in the old Bradford Public School while a new facility was built on West Park Avenue.

With the Helping Hand Food Bank literally just around the corner, students and teachers organized the first Chain of Caring food drive, lining up shoulder to shoulder to create a human chain and passing donated non-perishable food items one at a time, from the school to the doors of the food bank.

The Chain of Caring was held at the temporary facility two years in a row, but this year students are established in their new school - far from the food bank on Moore Street.

Council shoots down Sunday hunting

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

After nearly a year of discussion, Bradford West Gwillimbury has said no to Sunday hunting.

Councillors were swayed by input from residents like Mara Aron, who complained some hunters disobey the rules by shooting across private property, setting up tree stands within county forest tracts, and target shooting in prohibited areas.

"Please to give this matter serious thought, and not to think it's just another day," Aron said in open forum on Oct. 18, noting "No Hunting" signs and a trailer on her property have been peppered with bullet holes by hunters, and appeals to police have not resolved the problem. "If we can't enforce the rules, or if they can't follow the rules from Monday to Saturday, why would we reward them with another day?"

"I'm a hunter. I do love hunting. But I agree that families need time to enjoy the wilderness, without gunshots," Deputy Mayor James Leduc said later in the meeting. He supported the status quo, with no hunting on Sundays. "Leave it. The hunters have six days."

Coun. Peter Dykile Jr. questioned the enforcement of the current Discharge of Firearms Bylaw.

"We have to make it safe. We're growing tremendously, with more families accessing local forested areas, he said. "How do we enforce this?"

Manager of enforcement Brent Lee noted the town's bylaw sets stringent restrictions. Hunters are not permitted to discharge firearms within 50 metres of a public highway or 200 metres of private property.

"The question comes down to enforcement," Lee admitted, adding the town has been in discussion with South Simcoe Police over the public safety issue. "There are challenges."

Coun. Raj Sandhu said he had originally supported Sunday hunting, but after hearing the concerns and walking a forest tract, "I changed my mind." He also raised the issue of hunting complaints "the other six days."

"I'm getting more and more people calling about problems with hunters," agreed Coun. Ron Orr. "There are good people out there, but we are having more and more people who are taking advantage" and breaking the rules, he said.

Council was unanimous in turning down Sunday hunting, then raised the question of a ban on hunting in local Simcoe County forest tracts. In March, Lee noted, council decided not to pass a resolution asking Simcoe County to restrict hunting in forests like the Sinclair and Hudson tracts, popular with hikers and cyclists. To bring the issue back to the table within the same calendar year would require a two-thirds majority vote of council, to waive the procedural bylaw and allow reconsideration of the issue.

Dykile put forward a notice of motion, bringing back the question for the Nov. 1 meeting of council. If council votes in favour of the hunting ban, it will still need the approval of county council.

Police briefs: Robbery in Bradford

Bradford – South Simcoe Police are reviewing video and asking for the assistance of the public after a local drug store was robbed on Sunday morning.

On Oct. 16, around 11:35 a.m., a man entered the Bradford Drug Mart at 54 Holland St. W. and demanded narcotics of the pharmacist. He jumped over the pharmacy counter and filled a grocery bag with drugs taken from the open store safe. He then smashed the store phone before walking out of the building. The suspect is described as male, with an average build, about 5'8" (173 cm) with tanned skin, wearing a black hoodie and black mask. He was wearing a beige Toronto Maple Leafs cap and black gloves, and was last seen behind the building. As he was leaving the pharmacy, he brushed past two customers who were entering the store.

Anyone with information is urged to call police at 905-775-3311 or, to remain anonymous, Crime Stoppers at 800-222-8477. Callers to Crime Stoppers do not have to identify themselves or testify in court, and information leading to the arrest of a suspect or recovery of stolen property may lead to a cash reward.

Warm range

Bradford – Just before 1:30 a.m. on Oct. 17, a South Simcoe Police constable patrolling Yonge Street north of Bradford noticed the vehicle ahead of him was being driven erratically. The officer stopped the car, spoke to the driver and detected an odour of alcohol on the woman's breath. A roadside screening test registered a "warn." A 34-year-old Bradford woman received a three-day licence suspension.

Sex assault

Late in September, the South Simcoe Police Criminal Investigation Team began an investigation involving three female victims between the ages of six and eight. The allegations involved events that took place in the summer in Innisfil. On Sept. 30, a 73-year-old Innisfil man was arrested and charged with three counts of sexual assault and three counts of sexual interference, and was released with a November court date and several strict conditions. As the investigation progressed, three more victims came forward. The new allegations date as far back as 1977, up to and including 2016. As a result, the man was re-arrested, brought for a hearing and charged with an additional three counts of sexual assault, two counts of sexual interference and one count of indecent assault on a female. The man, now facing a total of six counts of sexual assault, five counts of sexual interference and one count of indecent assault, is being held in custody. Charges laid in fatal collision Innisfil – On July 12, around 10:30 a.m., South Simcoe Police, Innisfil Fire and Rescue, and Simcoe County Paramedics were called to the intersection of Yonge Street and County Road 89 for a collision between a motorcycle and a car. The motorcycle, with two occupants, was southbound on Yonge when it collided with a northbound Chrysler Pacifica in the intersection. The two occupants of the motorcycle were thrown to the ground, and the driver, a 16-year-old Innisfil resident, was taken to a local hospital, where he succumbed to his injuries. His passenger, a 15-year-old Peterborough resident, was taken to a Toronto trauma centre with serious injuries. The driver of the Chrysler received minor injuries and now, after a lengthy investigation, has been charged under the Highway Traffic Act with failing to afford reasonable opportunity to avoid a collision while making a left turn. The 86-year-old Alliston man will appear in court in November.

Stunt driving

Innisfil – At 8 a.m. on Oct. 14, an officer patrolling in the area of Big Bay Picnic Road and 25 Sideline stopped a vehicle travelling at 118 km/h in a posted 60 km/h zone. The driver, a Barrie man, faces charges of speeding, stunt driving, no validation, and fail to have proof of insurance. His licence was suspended for seven days and his vehicle was impounded. He has a court date in November. South Simcoe Police are continuing their enforcement and education programs year round.

Still time to comment on the link

Time is running out for those who want to comment on the province's co-ordinated land-use planning review.

Feedback is being accepted until Oct. 31 on proposed changes to the Growth Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe, Greenbelt Plan, Oak Ridges Moraine Conservation Plan, and Niagara Escarpment Plan. And embedded in the Growth Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe is the Bradford 400-404 link highway.

For over a year, Bradford West Gwillimbury Mayor Rob Keffeler has been working with the County of Simcoe, York Region and mayors of neighbouring municipalities to underscore the need for the link to reduce traffic gridlock, especially through the town of Bradford.

Rush-hour congestion is only expected to get worse as the population of Simcoe County grows from 461,000 in 2011 to 796,000 in 2041.

"Every day, I hear from people who are concerned with the traffic congestion in Bradford. It's having a negative effect on people trying to live, work and shop in our town, as well as on people who are suffering through long commutes but lack an alternative route," said Keffeler. "The province has already identified a corridor for the link. Now we need their commitment to build it."

For more information, and a "link" to the province's feedback form, see townofbwg.com/link.

A Chain of Caring stretches around Chris Hadfield Public School as students pass food donations from hand to hand for the Helping Hand Food Bank in Bradford on Oct. 14.

Not wanting to give up an event that unites the entire school and provides a hands-on demonstration of what it means to participate and share, organizers decided to host the third annual Chain of Caring, this time asking students to create a human chain that stretched from the school's gym to waiting South Simcoe Police cruisers.

Passing the donated food items from hand to hand on Oct. 14, the students crammed the cruisers with food to be taken to the food bank – a total of 1,042 items.

Point of View

Finding solutions

You have to know there's a problem before you can find a solution.

We recently heard a criticism of the now-started National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls that made us stop and want to make that fairly obvious statement.

Why, the critic wanted to know, was the government spending money on an inquiry into the more than 1,200 aboriginal women and girls who have gone missing, or have been found murdered, since 1980? It was suggested the money would be better spent on improving policing techniques, providing retraining and more resources.

Well, until the demands for the inquiry, there was little scrutiny of police response to reports of missing indigenous women. There was little comprehension the response of certain police institutions and officers might be different if it was a white, middle-class woman who was reported missing, or an indigenous girl. That there might be inherent biases and racism within some of the institutions Canadians rely on to administer the law and undertake investigations into criminal actions that threaten public safety. That there might be what Indigenous Affairs Minister Carolyn Bennett has termed "an unequal application of justice."

Hopefully, the inquiry will shine a light on those biases and make it clear if and how policing needs to change to meet the needs of all citizens.

But there are other needs that are already known, and require a solution. We do have a good understanding of the problems facing northern and aboriginal communities - from access to health care, clean water and healthy food, to ensuring First Nations schools provide an equal level of educational opportunities, and dealing with long-standing mercury pollution contaminating the food chain in communities like Grassy Narrows.

No inquiries are needed. Just the will to find solutions, and act.

Letters to the Editor

Small business week

To the editor: Small business owners work incredibly hard to provide Canadians with quality goods and services while also creating job opportunities that strengthen communities across the country and grow the middle class.

In Canada there are over 1.16 million small and medium-sized businesses. These businesses account for 99% of all firms, and employ over 90% of the labour force in the private sector. They are anything but "small" in terms of their contribution to Canada's economic growth, job creation and innovation.

Small Business Week, Oct. 16 to 22, is important for many reasons. It allows Canadians to thank small business owners and entrepreneurs for their enormous contributions to our country's prosperity. It is also a chance for current and future small business owners to participate in events across the country, to learn, network and share ideas about making their businesses as innovative, export-ready and successful as possible.

Our government recognizes the importance of small businesses and the entrepreneurs that make them thrive. That is why we are investing in several programs that support innovation and skills training, including for women, indigenous and young entrepreneurs.

On behalf of the government of Canada, Sophie and I invite all Canadians to celebrate our small business owners and entrepreneurs. We hope you will be able to take part in the events organized across Canada, learn, share ideas and do some networking, while recognizing the hard work, talent, ambition and determination of small business owners and entrepreneurs.

Golfing foursome Jonathan Scott, Todd Hunter, Sam Williams and, hitting the ball, Ranny Parker of Bekerman Properties, in the St. John's Presbyterian Church tournament at the Highlands Golf Club in Bradford on Sept. 24.

Successful tournament

To the editor: During the final weekend of September, St. John's Presbyterian Church hosted its sixth annual golf tournament at the Bradford Highlands Golf Club. Twenty-five enthusiastic golfers had a wonderful day on the links.

I want to thank the Highlands for hosting us for a fantastic day and delicious lunch.

I also want to thank our tournament sponsor, Bekerman Properties Inc., as well as our hole sponsors: Rosehaven Homes, MacEachern and Associates Ltd., Van Del Contracting Ltd., and Jonathan Scott Consulting Inc. We are also grateful for the support of Roy Gordon Law, Great Gulf Homes Inc., Michael Adams Law, The Bradford Print Shoppe, Wasim Jarrah Real Estate, Wells Fargo and Vince's Market.

The tournament raised $10,000, with proceeds going towards supporting our Syrian refugee family and our local food bank.

Getting on the green - foursome, from left, Ranny Parker, Todd Hunter, Sam Williams (taking his shot) and Jonathan Scott and Samuel Williams. And thank you, once again, to all of our golfers and sponsors.

60 years together

MICHAEL KING/BRADFORD TIMES

Matthew and Christine Granger met in England, and it was in England where they were married on Oct. 6, 1956. The couple came to Canada in 1963, and have three children and two grandchildren. On Oct. 15, they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at St. John's Presbyterian Church in Bradford, surrounded by family, friends and neighbours. What keeps a marriage going through six decades? "Laughter," said Christine, without hesitation. "We go through different things, but I think if you keep laughter in your life ... and a belief in God, that makes a huge difference." Matthew agreed, with a smile. "We're believers, and we think God did a great job in us."

Brassard named Veterans Affairs critic

Rona Ambrose, leader of the Official Opposition and interim leader of the Conservative Party of Canada, announced changes to her shadow cabinet on Oct. 16. Barrie-Innisfil MP John Brassard has been appointed critic for veterans affairs.

"I have a profound respect for our veterans. There are thousands of active military families who call the Barrie-Innisfil area home, and many thousands more who previously served our country with integrity and distinction," Brassard said. "Our community also has a deep connection with Base Borden and I look forward to working productively with stakeholders and veterans groups across Canada on behalf of our veterans ... They are the tie that binds the citizens of this great country together."

Church dinners, community suppers

Mom2Mom fall sale

Families have struggled with the high cost of children's clothing, toys and other necessities, especially since kids seem to outgrow everything so quickly.

It is a dilemma that has given rise to Mom2Mom Sales — where moms can sell off gently used and outgrown kids' gear, and pick up "new" items that fit, at bargain prices.

The Fall Mom2Mom Sale will be taking place at the Bradford and District Memorial Community Centre, 125 Simcoe Rd., upstairs at the old idea room, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday, October 23. Families can browse and buy. Admission is $3, or a donation of non-perishable food. The cash will go to support CrossTrainers' A Hand Up Christmas Wish List and Christmas Dinner, for those in need, while food donations go to the Helping Hand Food Bank.

Thanks to generous supporters, there will be a "swap bag" filled with gifts and coupons for the first 100 moms through the doors — and a free raffle for great donated prizes. To become a vendor at the Mom2Mom Fall Sale, see BradfordMom2Mom.com or check out Facebook.

Spreading the message of fire safety

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Oct. 9 to 15 was Fire Prevention Week.

Bradford West Gwillimbury Fire and Emergency Services welcomed visitors to the fire station on Melbourne Drive for an open house on Oct. 12, promoting fire safety and this year's Fire Prevention Week theme: "Don't Wait, Check the Date."

The Ontario Fire Marshal's Office is encouraging residents to make sure smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are operational, and that batteries are working, but also that the alarms are maintained. Most detectors have lifespans of 10 years; the fire marshal is encouraging residents to look at the date of manufacture on the back of the alarms, and replace any that are 10 years old.

In addition to fire safety information and refreshments, firefighters handed out junior fire chief helmets and badges, colouring books, crayons and reflective lost bags for the kids. Enbridge Gas partnered with fire and emergency services, inviting visitors to don funny glasses and wigs, put on their best "stink face" and take a "smellie" — raising awareness of the smell of natural gas, and encouraging residents to report a possible leak if they get a whiff of "rotten eggs."

Young visitors were invited to meet Sparky the Fire Dog, sit in a fire truck and extinguish a digital fire using a digital fire extinguisher — a lot harder than it looked. They could also explore the fire safety house, a kid-sized trailer that illustrated common household fire hazards.

The fire department has just ordered a new fire safety trailer to replace the 17-year-old "house" currently in use. The new trailer will be wheelchair accessible, and is only 21 feet long, compared to the 29-foot length of the fire safety house, "but it still has all the features," noted Fire Chief Kevin Gallant. "It will be easier to move, easier to get into tight parking spots" and more up-to-date, with features that include a digital fire extinguisher.

The Fire Prevention Week open house focused on fire, but there was a serious side to the message. The fire marshal's office had just released the result of an investigation into two fatal fires in Hamilton this year that took six lives.

The conclusions: Lack of working smoke detectors contributed to the death of a young mother and her two children on Aug. 6, and three adults on Oct. 1.

In the August fire, the single smoke alarm in the residence did not have a working battery. In October, only one of four detectors was working, and it was not near the bedroom that takes to

"Early detection and warning by smoke alarms would have provided these victims with more time to escape. Fire Prevention Week is underway and with these recent fires, homeowners should be reminded to have smoke alarms installed on every story and outside all sleeping areas of their homes," said Wayne Romaine, supervisor of the Office of the Ontario Fire Marshal. "Fire safety needs to be a priority."

Playwright to read God and the Indian

Playwright Drew Hayden Taylor will read his play, God and the Indian, at Bradford United Church Oct. 28 — a performance that takes to heart the purpose of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, to share and remember stories of residential schools.

A Cree woman, Johnny Indian, spots an Anglican assistant bishop and follows him to his office. Sneaking in through a broken window, she claims to remember Rev. King from a residential school 30 years earlier, and confronts him over sexual abuse. The reverend in turn claims not to remember Johnny and, while he admits to having heard stories about his colleagues, vehemently denies the accusation of abuse.

Ultimately, God and the Indian is fuelled by a desire for the stories of residential schools to be shared, listened to and remembered, and for bystanders as well as perpetrators to accept responsibility, accepting that photos ops.

The reading will begin at 7 p.m., followed by a question-and-answer period and refreshments. Admission is free, sponsored by the Canada Council for the Arts, the Heywate Guild of Canada, the Edge Group of the United Church of Canada, and Bradford United Church.

Thanksgiving tradition

MIRIAM KING, BRADFORD TIMES

Wimpy's Diner in Bradford has created a new Thanksgiving tradition. On Thanksgiving Monday, owners Bob and Kate Taylor open their doors and, from 4 to 8 p.m., served up a free dinner of turkey, ham, mashed potatoes and all the fixings, with pumpkin pie for dessert, to anyone who dropped in. It was a way for the business to give back to the community. Kate Yip is shown serving pumpkin pie to Sister Jean Doyle.

Trio dancing onto world stage

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

On Friday, Team Canada will be leaving for Wetzlar, Germany, and the ID World Ballet, Modern and Jazz Championships. Three dancers from Elite Dance Corps in Bradford are on the team, looking forward to the 10 days of travel and competition.

Jessica Simpson, Robynn Michitsch and Victoria Dougherty successfully auditioned to be part of Canada's entry in the world championship dance competition.

Simpson, who has been studying dance for 11 years – five at Elite Dance Corps – will be competing in ballet and jazz.

Michitsch, who has been at the IDC studio for four years but has been dancing for 14 years, will compete in jazz and modern dance.

Dougherty, an Elite Dance Corp student with 12 years of experience, is entered in jazz, ballet and modern.

This is the first year Michitsch has qualified for the championships, but the other two are seasoned competitors.

"Less and I went last year," said Dougherty. "It was just a cool experience," even though the style of judging was quite different from what they have been used to in Ontario.

The trio rehearsed with their Team Canada teammates "every weekend, every Sunday" since early in the summer, and are looking forward to the challenge.

There is one worry in addition to the stress of competition itself: They will be missing 10 days of high school. Fortunately, Dougherty said, "My teachers are helping me out a bit. They're giving me work ahead of time."

And teachers, family and friends have been lending their support and encouragement, wishing the dancers every success.

Elite Dance Corps is located at 33 Holland St. E. For information, see elite-dancecorps.com or call 905-775-1777.

Outfitting The First Shift

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

For a second year, Bradford West Gwillimbury Minor Hockey (BWGMHA) participated in The First Shift program, a unique introduction to hockey that fully equips kids between the ages of six and 10 with Bauer hockey gear and provides an introduction on the ice, for $195, taxes included.

Last year, BWGMHA saw 45 kids sign up for the program. Another 45 registered this year, meeting at the Bradford and District Community Centre on Oct. 11 to be properly outfitted with hockey bags, pads, helmets, skates, gloves, sticks and other gear by Bauer pros.

"The thing I like about it is it gets a lot of girls involved," David Heath, BWGMHA vice-president of operations, said at the welcome event, noting about half of those who registered for The First Shift are girls.

That's because the program provides a relatively inexpensive way for kids to try out the sport and see if it's something they would enjoy. After being outfitted, all of the hockey "newbies" participate in six on-ice sessions with coaches and trainers to learn skills and the basics of the game.

BWGMHA offers a transitional program in January, Heath said, called Intro to Hockey, "so they can keep going." The program focuses on skill building in a three-on-three format.

Is the program successful? Last year, about 50% of the new players, introduced to hockey through The First Shift, went on to play.

The program is a partnership between Hockey Canada, Bauer and Canadian Tire with the goal of breaking down the barriers — financial and otherwise — that keep kids from playing hockey. The First Shift aims to introduce hockey to one million families over a 10-year period in a way that is accessible, affordable, safe and fun.

Canadian Tire's The First Shift is designed for kids ages six to 10 who have never played hockey. For more information, visit bandofbuildups.com.

Third annual PH Challenge

Bradford — November's Pulmonary Hypertension Awareness Month in communities across Canada, including Bradford West Gwillimbury.

To mark the occasion, residents are invited to take part in the third annual Run/Walk, Swim or Bike/Spin PH Challenge, organized by the Town of BWG, in partnership with the Pulmonary Hypertension Association of Canada (PHAC).

Canada), the challenge asks participants to raise funds in support of PHA Canada programs and services, by collecting pledges per kilometre, then keep track of the kilometres they run, walk, swim, bike or spin, over the course of the week of Oct. 24 to 30. Prizes will be awarded for the greatest distances achieved and the most money raised, in a special ceremony on Nov. 3, at the Leisure Centre at 10 a.m.

Sign up for the PH Challenge at the BWG Leisure Centre, or online at phcanada.ca/phchallenge by October 23. Entry fee is $20, and participants will receive donation and pledge sheets.

Pulmonary hypertension is a rare, complex and potentially fatal lung disease. High blood pressure in the lungs leads to the enlargement and weakening of the right side of the heart.

Untreated, the result can be heart failure.

Because PH shares symptoms with a number of other conditions, it is often misdiagnosed. While there is currently no cure, treatment can help many patients live longer, healthier lives. Without treatment, the average life expectancy of someone with PH is less than three years, once the progressive symptoms develop.

There are currently 5,000 Canadians diagnosed with PH; as many as 10,000 may actually be affected by the condition.

For more information, see phcanada.ca/en/about-ph.

Rattlers change up the roster

Bradford — After a long break over Thanksgiving, the Bradford Rattlers were back at it with three games in three nights, but the team met with some unexpected adversity after cruising through the early part of the 2016-17 season atop the Greater Metro Jr. A Hockey League standings.

The Rattlers were victorious in West Nisipisung on Oct. 14, before dropping both games in a home-and-home series against the Parry Sound Islanders on Saturday and Sunday.

Despite the losses, there were some bright spots. Third-year forward Rasmus Brunnberg is riding a hot streak. Through 12 games, the Stockholm, Sweden, native had 24 points, including 12 goals.

Second-year veteran Kristian Simson has seen an increased role. He may not find the score sheet as often as some others, but he has been one of the most consistent players in the club for his complete level and physicality.

The Rattlers were missing several key players from their weekend line-up. Top scorers Nicholas Lang (22 points) and Lukas Mure were in Michigan, skating in Federal Hockey League pro camps, while star Swedish forward Muhammed Kucukajid was serving a suspension for fighting.

The club has two games this week — the first, a road trip north to Almaty, before coming back to Bradford to host the Seguin Huskies on Oct. 23 at the BWG Leisure Centre. Puck drop is 7:30 p.m. on Sunday.

RattNation notes: Following the recent losses, front office has made a few changes to the roster. Joining the club is 18-year-old defenceman Kenneth Lindell, from Stockholm, Sweden. Lindell, who played for the Rattlers two seasons ago, has been playing professionally in Sweden, is expected to have a huge impact. Goalie Karol Grosschmidt has been traded to the Northumberland Stars; forward Lukas Mure is returning home to Slovakia.

Voting begins for Aviva grants

Aviva Canada has opened the process for this year's Aviva Community Fund competition. The property and casualty insurance company is giving away $1 million in grants to the winning ideas, submitted by communities and organizations across the country.

Details of the more than 400 grants are posted at avivacanadafund.org, ranging from accessible playgrounds, to the Wellness Quest for Youth Mental Health, to other creative ideas. Finalists will be selected by the Ontario Ministry of Children's Development and Mental Health, Barrie's Dragon Boat Festival, and Seasons Centre for Growing Children. Entries compete in three categories and at two grant levels ($50,000 to $100,000, and $50,000 or less).

Members of the public are invited to vote for their favourite ideas, casting up to 13 ballots between the start of voting on Oct. 11 and the final day, Oct. 23. The top 30 vote winners will be referred to a panel of judges, who will determine the winners based on impact on the community, sustainability, submission quality, creativity and other criteria. Finalists will be revealed Nov. 7. Grand prize winners will be announced on Dec. 6.

Painting pumpkins

MURRAY KING/BRADFORD TIMES

It sure beats pumpkin carving. On Oct. 15, Bradford Greenhouses Garden Gallery invited kids and parents to drop in for a free pumpkin-painting workshop. Kids could choose their own pumpkins, then decorate them with paint, pipecleaners and googly eyes. No messy pumpkin guts and no dangerously sharp knives. Just creative fun surrounded by blooms and blossoms in the greenhouse. Pictured, Mom helps Andrew 6, and Nathan, 8, choose a design for their pumpkins at the pumpkin-painting event at Bradford Greenhouses Garden Gallery on Oct. 15.

Play Boo Bingo, enjoy a cup of hot chocolate, be dazzled by magician Gary Austin, and if you are brave enough, follow the Terror Trail. Admission is $5 for adults, $5 for students/seniors, $4 for children. Groups of 10 or more are asked to pre-register; see museum.simcoe.ca or call 705-728-3721.
